

CALIFORNIA WANTS HUGHES

Few Progressives Will Shift to Wilson Support

SITUATION IN WESTERN STATE

Some Slight Differences Are Only Among the Leaders

Santiago, Calif., Aug. 22.—Whatever may be the differences among political leaders of the Republican and Progressive parties in California, the rank and file of the voters are for Hughes. A canvass outside the leaders in a number of cities indicates this. While a few of the Progressive voters may go over to Wilson, the greater majority will support the Republican nominee. What seemed, according to some early reports of Mr. Hughes' visit to California, to be something of a muddle is really not so at all. As for the labor situation and the Commercial club luncheon in San Francisco at which union waiters refused to work, the Hughes managers are more worried about this than about any other condition. Nevertheless, 15 labor leaders have accepted the invitation to sit on the platform at Los Angeles while Hughes speaks. Mr. Hughes was not aware of the Commercial club mix-up until a number of hours after the luncheon was over and he did not even know that non-union men were waiting upon him.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarrh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.—Adv.

CATHOLICS ATTACK WILSON

Germans Assail President for Favors to the Entente Allies

OTHERS FOR HIS MEXICAN POLICY

Carranza, a Catholic Persecutor, Was Recognized by United States

New York, Aug. 22.—Criticism of the Wilson administration were made by Catholics here yesterday on the ground of favoritism shown the entente allies and recognition of Carranza, persecutor of Catholics.

Business sessions of the American Federation of Catholic Societies and allied organizations began here yesterday with nearly 20,000 delegates attending. "Catholic week" with a series of meetings and ceremonies which are to continue to and including Friday, was inaugurated Sunday with a pontifical high mass in St. Patrick's cathedral, attended by three cardinals and the apostolic delegate. This was followed by a mass meeting of the federation, which brought out 15,000 delegates in the evening to listen to addresses by Cardinals Gibbons, O'Connell and Farley and others.

At the opening session of the German Catholic Central Verein, Charles Korz, president of the New York state body, charged that the federal administration has favored the entente allies and thus "lengthened and embittered the war."

"The America citizenship of German descent," he said, in his report, "has done relatively more for the development of our country than the Anglo-Saxon, and never yet did German influence endanger the continuance of our union. For this reason we cannot reconcile the attitude of our national government in dealing with the warring nations, and we are of the opinion that the favoritism shown to the allied nations has lengthened and embittered the war."

Anthony Matre, national secretary of the Catholic societies, in his annual report dwelt on Mexican affairs. Speaking of the recognition of Carranza, he said: "Despite our honorable protests the arch persecutor of the church in Mexico was recognized and the voice of 16,000,000 Catholics was like one crying in the wilderness."

The opening session of the federation yesterday was devoted in part to hearing the reports of the national president, John Whalen, and of the national secretary, Anthony Matre. An address was delivered by Rt. Rev. M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's cathedral.

Suppression in many states of objectionable motion pictures and successful efforts for more stringent divorce laws, a cleaner stage and the control of indecent publications were among the principal activities of the commission on public morals, according to the annual report submitted yesterday. Continuance of vigorous campaigns against what were termed "pernicious cults and philosophies, among which was included birth control, socialism and anarchy," was advocated.

HEAT KILLS SCORE IN WEST

Weather Bureau Predicts Relief Through Showers and Cool Breezes.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Relief from the terrific heat wave which has baked plains states for the past week is due, says the weather bureau here, in predicting that showers and cooler breezes will arrive before night.

More than a score of deaths were reported yesterday as a result of the heat of the last two days. Eleven deaths were reported from Wisconsin towns.

Nine drownings were reported Sunday at the Chicago beaches.

Three Men Held.

Brooklyn, Mass., Aug. 22.—Three Brooklyn men, Michael Torbey, Charles Yatevitz and John Felep, are being held in connection with the drowning of Adam Stankewicz, a Brooklyn dock worker, in Lake Nipponicet, Bridgewater, Sunday. Torbey was held in $2,000 bonds yesterday on a manslaughter charge, and the other two men are being held as witnesses. Stankewicz was fishing with the three men late Saturday night. His body was found Sunday morning. A roll of $100 the drowned victim had in his possession when he left home is missing.

Manslaughter Charge.

Portland, Aug. 22.—Clyde J. Stackpole, driver of the automobile which plunged through a bridge at Yarmouth Sunday night and killed Roland F. Bragdon, was arraigned in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of manslaughter. He was held under $5,000 bail for a hearing on Aug. 24.

A Fatal Quarrel.

Salem, Mass., Aug. 22.—The death of Mike Iwanowski from knife wounds received during a quarrel over a dice game last night resulted yesterday in the arraignment of Steve Pastonak on a charge of manslaughter. The court ordered him held in bonds of $2,000 for a hearing on Aug. 29.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 22.—Clarence Simmons, for whom armed posse hunted the woods near the Rhode Island and Connecticut line Sunday night to apprehend him for the alleged murder of Mitchell Gravelin, a mill hand at Valerstown, Conn., Sunday, was arrested on a train here yesterday morning.

Coal Goes Up.

Boston, Aug. 22.—Retail prices for anthracite coal were marked up 25 cents a ton by Boston and suburban dealers yesterday. The advance, the second of the year, makes the quotation for most grades of hard coal, which is 50 cents above last year's price.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR NATIONAL FOREST ROADS

The Plains are Announced for Work Under Federal Aid Road Act.

Secretary Houston has just announced the plan to be pursued in spending the ten million dollars appropriated by the federal aid road act for the construction and maintenance of roads and trails within or partly within national forests, and has tentatively allotted among the various national forest states the million dollars which is expended this fiscal year.

The tentative allotments to the principal national forest states are as follows: Alaska, $46,280; Arizona, $50,795; Arkansas, $11,294; California, $140,736; Colorado, $62,335; Idaho, $108,010; Montana, $69,901; Nevada, $19,195; New Mexico, $42,622; Oregon, $127,794; South Dakota, $8,115; Utah, $40,682; Washington, $91,739; Wyoming, $40,566. In addition, a total of $9,552 has been tentatively assigned to Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and Oklahoma, while the eastern states, New Hampshire, Maine, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia, in which the government is purchasing lands for national forests, have been allotted $21,037.

"In general," said Secretary Houston, "the states and counties will be required to furnish co-operation in an amount at least equal to 50 per cent of the estimated cost of the surveys and construction. However, upon a satisfactory showing by the applicant state or county that such proportion of co-operation is inequitable, it may be altered and the ratio of co-operation fixed upon a basis equitable to both the state or county, and the United States."

The method followed in apportioning the money was explained by Secretary Houston as follows: Ten per cent of the amount available each year will be withheld as a contingent fund. One-half of the remainder will be allotted to the states in amounts which will be based on the area of national forest lands in each state. The other half will be apportioned on a basis of estimated value of timber and forage resources which the forests contain. Amounts apportioned but unexpended within three years, and any balance of the contingent fund which remains unexpended at the end of each year, will be reapportioned on the same basis as the original allotments.

The two groups of states to which lump sums are allotted are, it was explained, to be considered as single units of apportionment. Apportionments to the states made are for the current fiscal year only. Thereafter new apportionments will be made giving consideration to the number and character of applications made by the state and county officials for expenditures on specific projects. These applications must be filed with the district forester on or before January 1 of each year for the fiscal year beginning the following July 1.

The determination of the projects upon which funds will be expended during the current fiscal year will be made on the basis of applications which must be filed with the district forester on or before October 1, 1916. Each application must contain a statement of the public needs to be served by the proposed road and the manner and extent to which it would aid in the development of resources upon which communities within or adjacent to the national forests are dependent, and must also show the general location of the proposed road and its estimated cost. As already stated, in general state and county funds must be expended to furnish co-operation equal to at least 50 per cent of the estimated cost of surveys and construction. This co-operation may be in the form of money, labor and materials, or the construction of roads. Where other factors are equal, the approval of a project may be determined upon the relative amount of co-operation offered. Many applications have, it is stated, already been received for expenditures upon specific projects.

ALIEN INSTRUCTION URGED.

Bureau of Naturalization Seeks Increased School Facilities.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Greatly increased school facilities are to be provided this fall for the instruction of foreign-born residents of the United States, and especially for alien candidates for citizenship. During the last scholastic year the public school authorities of approximately 630 cities and towns in 44 states of the Union were co-operating with the bureau of naturalization of the United States department of labor in this branch of its educational activity.

According to information thus far received by the bureau, nearly 100 others have signified their intention of joining in the movement and all indications now point to a most gratifying record for the 1916-17 school year.

It is the desire of the bureau of naturalization that public school night classes be installed wherever the need exists for the educational and Americanization of foreigners. This field of operation of the public schools is not limited to those who have applied for naturalization. It is intended to include all foreign-born residents whose instruction in English and civics would, beyond question, result not only in great personal benefit to themselves but would be of signal advantage to the city in which they reside and, logically, to the nation as well.

That the cost of the establishment and maintenance of such schools is relatively small as compared with the great good accomplished, is convincingly shown by reports received from the public school authorities who co-operated with the bureau in naturalization last year. With this in view, the bureau is urging the superintendents of schools all over the country to insert in their annual budget for next year an item providing funds to cover the expenses of carrying on this public night school work.

NOT ILL, SAYS CARNEGIE.

But Seemed Greatly Exhausted on Arrival at Bar Harbor.

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 22.—After cruising in his yacht, the Surf, for two weeks, Andrew Carnegie and his party arrived Sunday and will remain for several days. Mr. Carnegie had greatly difficulty in stepping from the launch to the pier. He leaned heavily on the arms of his attendants as he walked to the automobile, and he was noticeably exhausted.

"I am not sick, I only feel tired," he told questioning friends.

SENATE UPSETS CAUCUS ON THE IMMIGRATION BILL

By Vote of 27 to 24, with Nine Democrats Voting with Republicans, the Measure Will Be Taken Up.

Washington, Aug. 22.—By a vote of 27 to 24, on motion of Senator Smith of South Carolina, the Senate yesterday voted to proceed to consideration of the immigration bill.

Nine Democrats voted against the wishes of the administration and the Democratic caucus, and favored the consideration of the bill. The caucus some days ago determined to postpone the measure until next session.

When debate on the provisions relating to Asiatics was begun, the galleries were cleared and consideration of those features proceeded in secret.

Passage of the bill seemed assured by yesterday's action and it was predicted that debate would be brief.

President Wilson vetoed the bill last because of the literacy test. Some Democratic senators believe he will not veto the bill again, although it retains the literacy test.

U. S. SOLDIERS WILL REMAIN IN MEXICO

Government Official Says the Troops Will Not Be Withdrawn Until the Mexican-American Commission Has Met.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The American troops will not be withdrawn from Mexico until the joint Mexican-American commission has met and such action has been recommended by the American members, a high official said yesterday. The statement was made in answer to a question regarding the action to be taken on Gen. Funston's report that the troops might now be withdrawn without endangering the safety of the border. At the same time the belief was expressed that the militia on the border would be returned to their respective states not long after the troops are withdrawn from Mexico and the border patrol duty left entirely to the regular army.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

Larry Gardner has boosted his average to .308 and is playing the best game of his career. There is no third baseman in the game to-day that is showing the class of the old Vermont.

Ty Cobb and Max Carey, leading base stealers in the big leagues to-day, have no such thing as close seconds in their respective leagues. Both of these speedy boys have everything in the big show clearly out-distanced.

With but nine more home games to play, the Red Sox have got to get a start before that long road trip, and that is a tough proposition, with the Tigers, Indians and Browns on their trail.

Capt. Jake Daubert of the Brooklynns is now the actual leader of the National league at bat, as he is a notch ahead of Robertson, who has been leading the National sluggers during the past few weeks of the campaign.

The Cincinnati team has a new shortstop coming from Dayton to play in the place of Emmer Fisher, former Cub shortstop and star player, who is now warming the bench for Cincinnati.

Manager George Stallings of the Braves left yesterday for Chicago, where he is going to try to get a line on Zimmerman, who is dissatisfied with his present berth.

A Lugubrious Race

By ALAN HINSDALE

A hearse drove up to the dock of the channel boat at Calais, followed by a carriage, out of which stepped a man of somber countenance, dressed in funeral black. Summoning a porter, he engaged him to bring assistants, and from the hearse an oblong box was removed and carried on to the boat. During the transit one of the men carelessly let go his hold, and the box came very near falling to the ground.

The mourner groaned. "Do be careful," he said. "That box contains the remains of my dear wife. She died a few days ago in Brussels, and I am taking her body to my home in Harwich, across the channel, to give it sepulture."

"Sorry, sir, that I lost my hold," replied the porter, evidently affected by the mourner's deep grief. "I won't do it again."

The mourner raised his handkerchief to his eyes to dry the tears that had started at the joggling of the dear remains and followed the bearers on to the boat, where he begged them to put down the box gently. They all seemed impressed by the exhibition of grief, and when the box touched the deck not a sound was to be heard. Wiping his eyes with one hand, with the other the mourner gave each one of them half a crown, and they dispersed, walking away with soft tread as if fearing to wound him by unseemly noise.

When the boat reached Harwich a customs officer came aboard. The mourner stepped up to him and, with trembling voice and difficulty in repressing his tears, said to him:

"My friend, I must ask your indulgence for one in trouble. That box contains the body of my beloved wife, who died abroad. I beg of you to see that I am spared any delay or difficulty in receiving a permit to remove it. The circumstances of my wife's death were extremely distressing. She died of a fever after a long and painful illness. Everything was done for her."

"All right, sir," replied the official. "I'll see that you're put to no trouble, sir."

He put the customs mark on the box. The mourner, stifling his tears, slipped a sovereign into his hand and, turning to some deckhands, asked them to carry the box on to the dock. As the melancholy procession was passing over the gangplank a man stood on the dock scrutinizing those who came ashore. The mourner while passing him put his handkerchief to his face and sobbed.

A hearse stood near—it had evidently been spoken for—and the box was duly committed to it. The mourner entered a carriage, and the two vehicles were driven away.

They had scarcely started when the man who had stood by the gangplank entered another carriage and told the driver to follow them. Slowly the funeral cortege passed through the town and took a road leading to a cemetery. The mourner so far forgot his grief to turn and look through the glass in the back of the carriage and saw another carriage not far behind. Presently the funeral vehicles turned out of the main road. The mourner looked again and saw that the carriage behind also turned. Lowering a window, he said quickly:

"Jim, we're gone up!"

"What makes you think so?" asked the driver.

"I saw a Scotland Yard man by the gateway watching for us. He is in that carriage back there."

"Suppose we race him?"

In another moment the melancholy trot of a funeral procession was changed to a gallop. As soon as the new gait was begun the carriage in the rear also made a change. On went the hearse; on went the carriage containing the mourner, and on went the one containing the detective. Seeing a funeral party galloping over the ground, persons along the road stopped and gaped. Then when the rear carriage passed, scattering dust and dirt, it was evident that there was a race in progress.

Presently the hearse reached a cemetery. The gate was open and the driver turned in, shouting to several persons standing about to get out of the way. The avenues of the inclosure were tortuous and well adapted to leaving a pursuer in the lurch. After making a number of turns on two wheels, the driver of the hearse stopped before a vault, the door of which stood open, the mourner's carriage came up, the two drivers withdrew the box and hurried it into the vault. There the mourner remained with it, while the two drivers drove on. The mourner listened. In a few minutes he heard a carriage go by lickety split without stopping.

"All right, monsieur," he called to the corpse of his wife. "We've won!"

"For heaven's sake, get me out of this!" said the other in a masculine voice and broken French. "This jolting has nearly killed me."

The mourner produced a screwdriver, removed the top of the box, and out stepped a man well dressed and evidently a gentleman.

"Hadden't we better dig out?" he asked. "When we've settled up."

The Frenchman, who was an absconding bank cashier, pulled out a package of bills, gave them to the man who had arranged and conducted his escape, and, passing from the vault, they departed in different directions.
